Audio Options
There are two ways to listen to your event

MyRoom Audio	Dial-In Audio
• Use your PC headset and microphone • Audio is streamed over the network • Best quality sound, minimal delay • Use the mic icon to minimize background noise	• On request • Use a traditional telephone connection and handset • Audio is sent over conference call • Good-quality sound, some delay • Use *6 (or mute button) to minimize background noise

Remote Labs

Lab Logistics
Your instructor will provide information on accessing your remote lab

Each course will have different lab requirements.

Different events use different remote labs.

Your instructor will have the most up-to-date information including:

- Remote Lab access instructions

- Logon/Password credentials

- Equipment Information

- Environment Guides

- Support resources

Hewlett Packard
Enterprise

Lab Access

- Remote Labs are generally accessible 24hrs / day (with some exceptions)

- Lab access ends when your course ends

- Support staff may not be available outside of class hours

Window Management

To participate, you will need to manage several active windows on your desktop

- MyRoom window(s)
- Remote lab window(s)

- Other applications (email, web browsers, etc.)

Best Practices

- Minimize any unused windows
- Use multiple monitors, multiple computers, or tablets
- Avoid using full-screen modes in applications
- Use Alt+Tab to cycle through active windows
